Pontoon erected at Manchester, saving 112 pounds for the motion. A spirited discus-sion followed, strong speeches being made by prominent members on both sides. The mo-tion was finally withdrawn.

Edward O'Meara Allen, one of the Fenians who was hung at Manchester, Saturday last, for the murder of Policeman Brett, at the rescue of Kelley and Deasey, was boy of nine-teen, fairly educated, but not good looking; his eyes small and black, and his skin pale and opaque, his features heavy. He seemed impulsive and resolute. His motive was a blind personal devotion to Kelley. His ex-clamation when he unlocked the box and released the keys—"Kelley, I pull die for you!"—tells his story. On receiving sen-tence, he expressed regret at the death of Brett, but maintained the righteousness of the act.

It is reported in Washington that a certain Democratic Congressman has received $10,000 to the Republican fund which is to be used in starting Mr. Dana's new Chase organ, on the condition that the Republicans would use their influence at Washington to have Speaker Colfax place the subscriber on the Ways and Means Committee in place of Hon. James Brooks. A conference of prominent Demo-crats was held to inquire into the facts. The result has not transpired at this writing, but it is understood that the member referred to is so alarmed at the disclosure of his plans that he has given notice of a withdrawal of his subscription and a cessation of all further en-deavors to procure for himself a place on the committee above mentioned.

Weston had a rough experience in Nor-walk, Ohio, which he reached on Wednesday. The rude and noisy crowd that pressed on the pedestrian was largely composed of drunken men. They pushed and jostled him until he reached the hotel, and threw out the crowd, probably a horse dealer, insisted on feeling and pinching his legs. Rushing into his room, pale and excited, with the hilt of his broken whip as a memento of the crush from which he had just emerged, Weston said: "If I lose this race it will not be because I have not tried to win it, but because those who wish me best have prevented my success." It is gravely announced that Weston did not walk well on Wednesday, on account of some hot biscuits he had eaten for breakfast.

An effort was made in the House of Com-mons, on Thursday night, to secure the invo-cation of the Manchester rioters. John Francis Ma-guire, member from Cork, moved that the House interfere to stay the sentences of the Fenians convicted at Manchester, giving 112 grounds for the motion. A spirited discus-sion followed, strong speeches being made by prominent members on both sides. The mo-tion was finally withdrawn.

BLACK AND TANS IN COUNCIL.

The Alabama Miscegenation Convention.

Qualification of Electors.

In the Convention Wednesday night the following clause, describing the qualification of voters, was adopted as a part of the Consti-tution:

ART. —, Section 1. Every male person born in the United States, and every male person who has been naturalized, or who has legally declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, twenty-one years old, or upward, who shall have resided in this State six months next preceding the election, and three months in the county in which he offers to vote, except as hereinafter provided, shall be deemed an elector; provided, that no soldier, sailor or marine in the military or naval service of the United States shall here-after acquire a residence by reason of being stationed on duty in this State.

Sec. 2. It shall be the duty of the General Assembly to provide, from time to time, for the registration of all electors, but the fol-lowing classes of persons shall not be per-mitted to register, vote or hold office:

First, Those who during the late rebellion, inflicted, or caused to be inflicted, any cruel or unusual punishment upon any soldier, marine, employe, or citizen of the United States, or who in any other way violated the rules of civilized warfare.

Second, Those who are, or may be dis-franchised by the proposed constitutional amendment, known as the 14th article, and the act of Congress passed March 2d, 1867; except such persons as have aided the plan of reconstruction, proposed by Congress, and accept the political equality of all men before the law. Provided, That the General Assembly shall have power to remove the disabilities incurred under this last clause.

Third, Those who shall have been convict-ed of treason, embezzlement of public funds, malfeasance in office, crime punishable by law with imprisonment in the penitentiary, or bribery.

Fourth, No idiot or insane person shall be permitted to register or vote in this State.

Sec. 3. All persons before registering must take and subscribe the following oath:

"I, ——, do solemnly swear, (or af-firm,) that I will support and maintain the Constitution and laws of the United States, and the Constitution and laws of the State of Alabama; that I am not excluded from registering by any of the clauses in section two of this article; that I will never counte-nance or aid in the secession of this State from the United States; that I accept the civil and political equality of all men, and agree not to attempt to deprive any person or persons, on account of race, color or previous condition, of any political or civil right, privi-lege or immunity enjoyed by any other class of men; and furthermore, that I will not in any way injure or countenance in others, any attempt to injure any person or persons, on account of past or present support of the Government of the United States, the laws of the United States, or the principle of the political and civil equality of all men, or of affiliation with any political party."

Resolutions highly eulogistic and adieu of Major General Pope were adopted on Thurs-day. Yeas, 78; nays, 3. Those who voted against the resolutions were Messrs. Griffin, of Mobile, Latham, of Pike, and Russell, of Barbour.

Griffin said he voted against the resolutions because General Pope had not, in his opinion, executed the laws of Congress. He said, General Pope had not removed, "but allowed disloyal persons to hold office, and he (Griffin) was opposed to "rebels" holding office.

Mr. Russell, of Barbour, indorsed the re-marks of Griffin.

On Friday the Convention did nothing of importance but adopt the section of the article on Representation, relating to Congressional Districts, as follows:

Sec. 5. Until a new appointment of Repre-sentatives to the Congress of the United States shall have been made, the Congressional Dis-tricts shall remain as stated in the Revised Code of Alabama, and after such new appor-tionment, the Governor shall assign to each district the State into as many districts as it is al-lowed Representatives in Congress, making such Congressional Districts as nearly equal in the number of inhabitants as may be.

MONDAY'S NOON DISPATCHES.

Testimony Before the Impeachment Committee.

Great Loss of Life by the Hurricane at St. Thomas.

Cholera Reports from Havana.

NEW YORK, November 25.—The Tribune pub-lishes the testimony of General Grant, Judge Nelson and Secretary Seward in the impeachment case. General Grant said: I have seen the Presi-dent very frequently in reference to the condition of affairs in the rebel States. When I was asked to be at a Cabinet meeting, it was because some question was up in which, as General of the army, I was interested. I have never had any interview with the President on amnesty; I have occasion-ally recommended persons for amnesty; I thought myself, at that time, there was no reason because a person had risen to the rank of general he should be amnestied from amnesty; there were many who had not risen to such that rank; I spoke on that point; I did not see much use for the twenty thousand dollar clause then, as the only two I knew of were Lee and Longstreet. There were other times; afterwards, however, told him that I thought he was much more right on the twenty thousand dollar clause than I was. I was present when the proclamation was read in Cabinet, but my views were not asked; I never gave any opin-ion to the President that it would be better at that time to issue a proclamation of general amnesty.

Question—Did you ever give your opinion to the President that he should not interfered with the stipulations between yourself and General Lee?

Answer—No, sir; I frequently had to intercede for General Lee and others paroled officers, on the ground that their parole, so long as they obeyed the laws of the United States, protected them from arrest and trial. The President at that time counseled exactly the other ground, viz: that they should be tried and punished. He wanted to know when the time would come that they should be punished. I told him not so long as they obeyed the laws and complied with the stipulations, that was the ground I took.

Question—Did you not also insist that it applied as well to the common soldiers?

Answer—Of course it applied to every one who took the parole. They were not surrendered. Except in case of some leaders, I insisted that the surren-der should be made on as liberal terms as I could.

A portion of them could have escaped, but they surrendered, in consideration of the fact that they were to be paroled and not punished as long as they performed the obligations they had taken, and they were entitled to that. Grant said that was his view. Still the President pressed very much that the leaders should be punished, and was very anxious to know when the time for their trial would come. Grant replied, when they vio-lated their parole; but these terms did not apply to Jefferson Davis, as he never had any parole. The President contended that the trial of General Lee, but General Grant insisted that it would be a violation of the parole. General Grant had urged nothing, but had only given his opinion when asked for it.

NEW YORK, November 25.—A Herald Havana special of the 20th says the official burial returns show that one thousand and fourteen persons had their lives in the late hurricane at the island of St. Thomas.

We have the announcement from Santiago yes-terday that the cholera reports from Havana were growing proportionately diminished and that there was much so, that the Spanish steamer, Barcelona, from this port was forbidden to enter.

TUESDAY, : : : : : NOVEMBER 26, 1867

THE recent elections in New York and New Jersey increases the conviction furnished by the October elections, that light has really broken, and that an unmistakable and irresistible reaction has taken place at the North. That the result of those elections augurs a Constitutional success in the next Presidential election, and of a Conservative majority in the next House of Representatives, is apparent enough to give life to the most despondent and to inspire the National heart with a hope that all is not yet lost, and that the Government will again be restored to a Constitutional basis. This is no illogical inference from that result, but is based upon the figures which those elections afford, unanswerable as they are true. The National Intelligencer, the able representative of the Conservative masses of the nation, at Washington, a paper not prone to exaggerated anticipations or future political results, or to hold out false hopes to its readers, furnishes us with the data upon which we are firmly grafted in this conclusion. New York city and Brooklyn, represented in the present House of Representatives by ten Democrats, gave large gains, the precise figures of which we have not now at hand. The Fourteenth or Albany district, now represented by Mr. PRUYN, Democrat, gave him 648 majority; the Democratic majority is now 3,463. The Thirtieth or Buffalo district, represented by Mr. HUMPHREY, Democrat, has increased its majority from 1,317 to 1,756. These embrace all of the Democratic districts. The remaining nineteen are represented by Radicals. The Eleventh district, represented by VAN WYCK, Radical, gave him last year a majority of 261. The Democratic majority is now 893. The Twelfth district, represented by KETCHUM, Republican, gave him 1,695 majority. The Democratic majority this year is 44. In the Thirteenth district, now represented by CORNELL, Republican, a Radical majority of 342 is extinguished, and a Democratic majority of 2,153 substituted. These three districts would give the Democrats fifteen out of thirty-one members, had an election been held for Congress on the 5th of November. In several other districts the Republican majority is so small that the Democrats could carry them easily, now, says the Intelligencer, that it is clearly established that the popular wave is bearing them on to an undoubted possession of the Government of the country. We may instance the Oneida, or Twenty-first district, lately represented by Mr. ROSCOE CONKLING. It has only given a Republican majority of 603 in a poll of nearly 22,000. Again, in the Eighteenth district, now represented by MARVIN, Republican, the Radical majority is fifty-nine. He was elected a year ago by 3,154 majority. The Radical loss in Mr. GRISWOLD'S district is 3,808; in Mr. FIELD'S, 1,962; in Mr. LAFLIN'S, 2,124; in Mr. CHURCHILL'S, 1,731; in Mr. MCCARTHY'S, 2,100; and in Mr. WARD'S 2,940. These figures show that the great reaction has now reached the rural districts. They make a handwriting on the wall which these gentlemen, with the aid of some "intelligent freedman," may perhaps be able to decipher. The great Empire State, has administered a rebuke to her present Congressional delegation, which it would be well for it to regard. She has shown to her Radical Representatives how frail is the tenure by which they hold their places. She has instructed them that she will not permit the public weal to be trifled with by schemes of impeachment, confiscation, and other devices of the devilish genius of the Radical revolutionary organization; above all, that she will not tolerate a negro political power in the country, nor permit to be transferred to negro governors and State Legislatures in the South, the governments in those States. She has said that negro Senators and Representatives shall not measure their power against her own in Congress, and prostitute the national interests to a corrupt and ruinous career. She has said that she will not have an ignorant and debased negro balance of power in the Congress, making a machine of the public treasury, to be disposed of by the Radical leeches—negro and white—who would use it as the mere spoils of a political success, to be disposed of to themselves. New York has thus spoken, instructing, as it were, her present Radical Senators and Representatives to hold off, and fear her wrath. New Jersey has voted with the same signal emphasis. In 1865 a Radical Governor was elected by 2,819 majority, and last year on a vote for Congress they carried the State by 1,491. The Democratic majority in the State is now 16,854, making a Democratic gain of 17,845 since last year. The Newark daily Journal claims the majority to be still higher, viz: 17,924. In the First Congressional district, Mr. MOORE, Radical, last year had 3,862 majority; now the district gives a Conservative majority of 290 votes. In the Fourth district HILL, Radical, had 462 majority; this year the Conservatives carry it by 3,878. In the Fifth district, HAZELTON, Radical, had 933 majority; the Conservatives carry it now by 2,984. This is one of the most radical political revolutions we have ever known. It carries with it all the significance of the result in New York. It bears to her Radical Senators and Representative the same voice of admonition that we have said New York has spoken to her own. Above all, it administers an indignant and withering rebuke to the shameless body which now holds its political orgies at Washington, known as the Senate of the United States. A prostituted and counterfeit usurpation of the great historic Senate, which was known from the foundation of the Government to the opening of the war—composed of men who, in the olden time, would have been regarded as fitter ushers to the Temple of Cloacine attached to the Chamber, than as Ambassadors of States. This shameless and unprincipled body, to achieve the advantage of a two-thirds Radical majority, expelled, upon a most untenable pretext, the duly elected and honored Senator she had sent to represent her there—a man of revolutionary ancestry, whose grandfather and father had previously filled the same place. The popular voice of New Jersey, has rebuked this outrage, and has stamped the Senate with an infamy which it cannot efface. The chivalric STOCKTON will be sent back to meet it to its face and impale it before the world, as the culmination of disgrace. We say to our readers be of good cheer. All is not hopeless yet. The great Democratic party of the North is in earnest, and is in the field. It will remain in it. The battles it has recently fought, grand as its successes were, are but preliminary to the great one of November next, and from what we have already seen, who is there but what can justly hope for its success in the mighty struggle which is to come.

THE telegraph informs us that the Hon. EDWARD COOPER, of this State, has been installed as Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, vice WM. E. CHANDLER, resigned. The late incumbent, of whose politics we are not advised, discharged the duties of the place with satisfaction to all concerned, and brought a financial ability to it which he increased during the term, and won the applause of all who came in contact with the Treasury Department. In his successor the country has assurance that its best interests will be regarded. A man of splendid talents, high personal character, and honorable ambition, he will discharge the office to its fullest capacity for successful administration. We should be pleased to see him occupy even a higher place.

WE read the Appeal's article, on Sunday morning last, in regard to General SHERMAN as the future President, with much interest. If the venerable chief of our colemporary, whose mind, as the Louisville Journal says, handles great thoughts as JUPITER did his thunderbolts, is willing to support for the Presidency the man who left blackened chimneys to mark his routes through the South, and denounces the people who cherish their "lost cause," he is perfectly welcome, and we will never question his right.

WE learn that ex-Governor ISHAM G. HARRIS arrived at Paris, Tennessee, on Sunday evening last, direct from Liverpool. The town of Paris literally turned out, and gave him an ovation of a character which, by its overflow of quiet and genuine welcome, must have touched the heart strings of the patriot, who has been an exile from his country for over two years.

General Kirby Smith is in Nashville, raising stock for his Southern telegraph line.

The Mary Forsythe, bound South, ran into a barge she had in tow, and seriously damaged the freight it contained.

It is said Mr. Davis' counsel will object to his being tried by Judge Underwood. He will also object to a negro jury, as illegal and incompetent.

Captain L. D. Barnes, superintendent of the Columbia (Tennessee) Cemetery, reached Nashville, Saturday, on his way to Murfreesboro with the remains of 1,300 Federal soldiers.

A bill has been introduced in the House to repeal the law authorizing four millions dollars per month of currency to be retired, and to prohibit any further reduction of the currency by the Secretary of the Treasury.

The annual message of the President is substantially completed, and was read Friday for the first time in Cabinet meeting. The President had decided to supply the distant press with advanced copies, in order to avoid errors in telegraphing the message.

The General Assembly of the Presbyterian church in the United States, Saturday, postponed the question of union with the Cumberland Presbyterian church until the meeting at Baltimore in May, 1868. The representatives from the Kentucky Synod were admitted.

Governor Brownlow has issued a proclamation to the sheriffs of the counties of Dickson, Decatur, Hardin, Henderson, Hickman, Humphreys, Lawrence, McNairy, Perry and Wayne, commanding them to hold an election on the 28th day of December next, for a Chancellor in the Fifth Chancery Division of the State.

Mosely and Miles, both confined in the jail at Dandridge, Tennessee, on charges of murder, effected their escape on Tuesday evening last. Mosely has broken out of jail before. He escaped three times from the jail at Greeneville, twice at Jonesboro', and this is the second time at Dandridge. Both of the men are desperate characters, and have been the terror of the communities in which they resided.

Boyd & Co., Solicitors of Patents, 208 Pine street, St. Louis, Missouri, officially report to the ATALANCHE the following patents granted Mississippi, Georgia, Florida, Alabama and North Carolina inventors, for the week ending 19th November, 1867: W. Spillman, Marion Station, Mississippi, bullet machine; E. T. Botran, Newnan, Georgia, paddle wheel; J. C. Cunningham, Oglethorpe, Georgia, mill gearing; R. B. Alfred LaGrange, Georgia, cotton and hay press; T. Higginbothan, Hernando, Florida, fibrous material; D. P. Lewis, Huntsville, Alabama, hose guard; D. Cochnell, Fayetteville, North Carolina, apparatus for distilling turpentine; R. H. Hilton, Newport, North Carolina, air chamber for pumps.

A Washington dispatch, dated the 20th, to the New York Herald, says that Mr. Stevens ventured out of doors to-day, visiting the Capitol. He was conveyed to the Chamber and to the House wing in his carriage, and carried to the Appropriation Committee room by several men. Mr. STEVENS remained in the Capitol building about two hours and received the congratulations of his numerous friends. To-night he is not so well. The excitements of the day have had a materially unfavorable effect. Upon returning to his residence, he was greatly exhausted, and compelled to retire very soon after. This unnecessary exertion is much censured by his friends. Notwithstanding his great weakness, he battles against the infirmities of health and age with a determination truly amazing."

Colonel W. W. Gates, of the West Tennessee Whig, says that in an editorial career of nearly forty years he does not remember ever to have been more wantonly and unjustly assailed by any paper than he has been by the Memphis Bulletin. He is astonished that the Bulletin should assail him, for he has ever labored with his best abilities for the advancement of Memphis. When he was attacked, he says he immediately turned to look for the names of the editors, having learned that a change had taken place in the management of the paper, but he could get no light on the subject, as no names of editors or proprietors were announced. So he was, as he says, fired upon by men from behind a masked battery. In concluding his articles, he says that he cannot be provoked to take an antagonistic position towards Memphis, however much he might be assailed by the Bulletin. The town of Jackson and the county of Madison had done much towards building up Memphis to a great city, and he feels that it is, in common with all West Tennessee, his city.

TENNESSEE LEGISLATURE.

From the Nashville Banner.]

FRIDAY, November 22, 1867.

The Senate rejected the House resolution requesting the Governor to order an election for an additional Congressman for the State at large.

The bill appropriating about $3,850,000 for the benefit of the various railroads in the State, was passed on its second reading, by eighteen to two.

A bill to reduce the salaries of military officers was adopted and passed on its final reading, by eighteen to two, Messrs. Carey and Underwood in the negative. During the debate Mr. Carey referred to the fact that the Secretary of State has received $15,000 to $18,000 as perquisites, besides his salary, which is fixed by law.

Mr. Doughty introduced a bill to provide for the redemption of the bona fide issues of the Bank of Tennessee.

Speaker Richards said that if some action in the direction indicated by the bill were not taken, the State would find itself in a condition from which it would be impossible to extricate itself. He had heard that the best legal minds in the State or country held that as soon as the Supreme Court shall give a decision on this question, it will be against the State, and if this decision should be given next winter, after the Legislature has adjourned, in what condition would the finances of the State be found? The bonds of the State would be at the south twenty five cents on the dollar.

Mr. Hamilton had examined the question carefully and in consultation with the Governor, and the bill was not the work of a moment. It was the wish of the Governor to have the subject investigated. In his opinion and that of his legal advisers, the Supreme Court will eventually decide against the State.

Young Mr. Singletary knew that the notes of the Bank of Tennessee were in the hands of the banks and brokers of the State, all of whom were disloyal, and if by any means the State were held responsible, the benefit would inure to those who had plunged the State into war and ruin.

The bill was finally referred to a joint committee of the two Houses.

One Mr. White, hailing from Greene county, the color of whose heart clearly belies his name, offered a resolution calling on Congress for the confiscation of a sufficient amount of rebel property to pay the entire war debt and to indemnify loyal citizens for losses sustained by the secession of the rebellion. Have you read the election news, Whitey?

The House joint resolution authorizing the Controller, under the direction of the Governor, to borrow a sum not exceeding $400,000, to meet the interest on the State debt falling due January first, 1868, was taken up.

Mr. Beason made a statement to the House with regard to the necessities of the treasury. The amount of interest due on the first of January next is about $600,000. The ability of the State to meet this interest will depend upon the promptness of the railroads to pay to the State the amount of the interest on their bonds.

Mr. Hamilton thought it would be difficult to find parties willing to loan money to a State which showed such a disposition to rush on to ruin.

The resolution was passed and transmitted to the Senate.

SENATE.

WEDNESDAY, November 23, 1867.

Mr. Underwood: Requiring the Controller to remove all the bonds now in the Second National bank to the Peoples' bank, and requiring said bank to give the same security for the bonds the Second National bank has given. Laid over under the rules.

SENATE BILLS ON SECOND READING.

A bill requiring railroad Receivers to make out, monthly, under oath, a statement of the business of the road, and also giving the Governor power to dismiss any Receiver when he believes it promotive of the interest of the State to do so. Passed second reading.

A bill to incorporate the Dental Association of Tennessee. Rejected.

The bill for the appropriations to various railroads in the State came up on the third reading.

Mr. Carey offered the following amendment:

Be it further enacted, That it shall be illegal for any railroad company accepting the benefits of this act to make any discriminations as between any of local freight and through freight, either as to time of receiving or carrying same, and the rates or amounts charged for the hauling or carrying of same, but all freight charges made by said company shall be pro rata, and according to the distances which said freight shall be carried; and the acceptance of the benefit of this act shall be construed as an agreement on the part of said company not to make any of the discriminations in this section mentioned, and the appropriations made by this act are made on the condition that such discriminations shall not be made by companies accepting the benefits of this act.

The Speaker ruled the amendment as out of order from what being Mr. Carey's speech in the Senate. The decision of the Chair was sustained by a vote of 14 to 3. The amendment was then rejected. The vote on the original bill was then taken, resulting as follows:

Ayes—Messrs. Bell, Bates, Fuqua, Henderson, Keith, Lyle, Maxwell, McCall, Nelson, Norman, Patterson, Parker, Rodgers, Underwood, Wyatt, Mr. Speaker Sessler—17.

Noes—Messrs. Cate and Carey—2.

SPECIAL NOTICE.—Our city patrons are requested not to pay any one for subscriptions to the AVALANCHE without a receipt made from the office authorizing them to collect.

GALLAWAY, REBA & CLUSKEY.

THE MACKEREL AGAIN.—On Saturday night the mackerels paid a visit to the store of Mills & Cole, 376 Main street, and stole two boxes of shirts.

STEALING A CARPET SACK.—George H. Jackson was arrested yesterday, on the levee, charged with stealing a carpet sack from David Garner. He was locked up.

A SHOW WINDOW ROBBED.—The show window of Madame Delisman, No. 79 Jefferson street, was robbed of about one hundred dollars worth of hair, on Sunday night. The thief broke a pane of glass, and took all the hair within his reach.

"MURDERS."—It will be recollected that this splendid animal did not make his appearance at our turf meeting as a competitor for the purses. It appears that he was injured during his transportation to this city, and his owners have sued the Northwestern railroad for $20,000 damages for the injuries sustained.

MUST KEEP THE PEACE.—John Jones and Annie Gaillpeoe, both strong enough yesterday before Squire Miller, to have themselves bound over in the sum of $500 to keep the peace toward each other and all the people of the State of Tennessee. The bonds were given, and they went on their way rejoicing.

THE NEW MEMPHIS.—A fair house greeted the stock company last night, and the performance came off smoothly. To-night Miss Fanny Price will make her first appearance, and we bespeak for her a rousing reception. We have never seen Miss Price, but from all we can learn of her, she is by all odds the best of the new stars which have appeared within the past few years in the theatrical firmament. The bill for to-night is an excellent one.

WATCH STRALING.—Belle Slover and Charles C. Rogers were up yesterday before Squire Hall charged with appropriating a watch, the property of a well known legal gentleman to their own use. It appears that Belle keeps a den at 37 West Market street, and that the legal gentleman gave her his watch to keep before he retired, and when he demanded it from her in the morning she said she did not have it, and consequently could not come to time. The watch was valued at $200, and as he did not feel like leaving it, he accordingly had Belle arrested. What connection Rogers has with the matter did not transpire. The case was continued until Wednesday, at two o'clock, when no doubt its merits will be developed.

STOCK SALES.—We copy the auction sales of stock by Messrs. Cayce & Co. yesterday, at their new auction room, on Second street: 1 bay mare, old and poor, $16; 1 bay mare, old and poor, $25; 1 bay mare, old and poor, $30; 1 bay mare, fine and young, $150; 1 bay mule, medium, $100; 1 sorrel mule, medium, $75; one bay horse, old, $27; 1 spotted pony, poor, $25; 1 sorrel pony, poor, $31; 1 black mule, medium and fair, 1 bay mule, medium old, $82; 1 old bay horse, $52; 1 bay mule, old, $57; 1 young sorrel horse, $111; 1 black mare, $150; 1 black mule, $200; 1 brown horse, $125; 1 bay horse, old, $55; 1 sorrel mule, $113; one gray horse, $56; 1 roan horse, young, $100; 1 gray horse, young, $140. This old firm has daily sales. They are too well known to need comment.

A CALUMNIOUS PUBLICATION.—I have been much surprised to notice in the proceedings of the last session of the Board of Aldermen an unjustifiable effort to injure our private business, in a communication purporting to be from the commercial corporation of Lyons, France. There is no truth in all this pompous and affected official character which has no such character at all. It is instigated by one Joseph Dumars, whose lack of commercial integrity in having to repel his efforts to become associated in our business, resorts to this means to gratify his petty malice. In a few days we will publish a full exposé of this unprincipled man, and of the fiction of the paper which he has so unhandedly imposed upon the Aldermen of Memphis.
C. F. FRANKEL.
Of the firm of Filbert, Minter & Walker.

GREENLAW OPERA HOUSE.—The grand spectacular drama of "A Tale of Enchantment" was again produced at the Greenlaw last night. We can say what we always say, namely, that the elegant scenery, fine tableaux, exquisite dancing, and artistic posturing, it never has been equaled in our city. Mr. Waldron deserves special mention for his fine acting. He has an expressive face, a good figure, a fine voice, and what is better than all, he has a mind in his acting. Miss Helen De Vere is a charming actress and a pleasing singer. M'lle Gallotti, as a dancer, has never been equaled in this city, and we doubt if her superior is to be met in this country. Mr. Toney Denier, as a pantomimist, is all that can be desired. The whole company deserve praise, it is a sine plus ultra affair in every department.

Messrs. J. H. Ashbridge & Decan, of New Orleans, so long and favorably known to our commercial community as shipping and commission merchants, make known in another column that they have established an agency in this city for the purpose of signing through bills of lading for the English and continental ports for cotton shipped by the Liverpool Southern Steamship company's line and by sailing vessels. Messrs Ashbridge & Decan will insure consignments of cotton against fire while in presses in New Orleans, subject to the order of the shipper, and it is to be hoped that their enterprise will be met with every encouragement, both in New Orleans and here. New Orleans some of the cotton which has, owing to the calamities of the late war, which are patent to all, hardly directed its course to the seaboard. Their agents in this city can be found at 276 Front street.

THE BLACK AND WHITE RADICALS IN COUNCIL.—A meeting of the Radicals of all shades of color, from the undefiled African to the saddle color of Beaumont, was held last Saturday night, at the Centenary Chapel, in South Memphis, for the purpose of concerting notes as to who was the most appropriate candidate for Mayor. The grand mogul and fugleman of the meeting was, as matter of course, was a Metropolitan Police Commissioner coat, redolent of brass buttons. A free and easy discussion of the several candidates was indulged in, Sergeant Moses Hopkins opening the ball, and Commissioner Beaumont closing it. It was, apparently, a meeting held in the interest of the Beaumont wing of the Radical element, although no formal action was taken by the meeting, as such things will be attended to in the leagues. This was merely a feeler.

AN AIR PUMP WITH GREENBACKS IN IT.—The South was an exhausted receiver, such as we have seen in laboratories. The air forced out and a dead mouse thrown in expanded to fourfold its original proportions. At the close of the war, there was not in the Gulf States fifty thousand dollars in greenbacks. The Confederate bubble was wholly empty, and the little money within could not fill a pocket-handkerchief. The rebound from the air pump of Mr. Memminger and his predecessors. Every incident of health, disease, rain and storm has militated against the South. Nothing has been produced to fill the vacuum. The South is still empty. In fact, there is not money enough, under the nourishing system of Mr. Secretary McCulloch, to supply the demands of Northern commerce. Thus, too, French and English provinces have produced excellent cotton crops, and here the price does not repay the cost of production. For these reasons an expansion of currency is demanded by many financiers, and for these reasons there is an unnatural depression in the value of real estate. Congress may speedily remedy the evil, and then gentlemen of our people will regret their non attendance at the forced auction sales of property daily made by Colonel Monsarrat.

THE EXPRESS JOURNEYMEN.—By LOUISA MUHLBACH. New York, D. Appleton & Co.; Memphis, Bielock & Co., 315 Main street.—No authoress within the present century has made for herself more reputation than Louisa Muhlbach in the publication of her series of what might be called historical novels. There is, to say the least of it, a most wonderful fascination about the graphic word pictures so ably and faithfully drawn by this lady. Dealing with sorts and courtiers, Kings and Queens, Emperors and Empresses of the long ago, she is intimately acquainted with their customs and manners, their passions and prejudices, their virtues and their vices, and taking history as the pole star of her endeavor, she weaves such stories of the inner life of Courts, that possess such a wealth of dramatic power and interest as has been but seldom equaled, and never surpassed. Her Empress Josephine is fully up to any of her previous efforts, and there's not a dull chapter in it. It could not well be otherwise, for a history containing more dramatic incidents than the life of the gifted, but unfortunate Josephine, could not well be found. This book is for sale at Bielock's, 315 Main street, and we know all who have read her previous efforts will not hesitate in adding this one to their library.

PERSONAL.—Major J. R. Dennis, of Bolivar, a talented member of the Hardeman bar, is at the Gayoso House. We were glad to have met and had the pleasure of a conversation with the Major, who has just arrived from the Fayette court.

Colonel R. C. Wintersmith returned to the city yesterday, from Texas, after an absence of six or eight weeks. Colonel Wintersmith will be greeted by a host of warm friends, who will welcome him again to our city. He proposes continuing the insurance business, and should meet with that success due to a gentleman of his worth and nobleness of heart.

Mr. Thomas Conner, who passed through this city about a week ago, to fulfill an engagement in Nashville, has returned.

Mr. Cartwright, of the firm of Yeay and Cartwright, 181 Main street, who has been sick for some time, is reported to be out on the streets yesterday.

Mr. Ed. A. Garrard, of the Water Valley Courier, was in town yesterday on business connected with his paper. Report upon the Gayoso.

A report has come to the city that Messrs. Carroll Winters and Captain Garrett, of the Metropolitan Police force, had both been killed. We were pleased to meet both gentlemen, sound and well, yesterday.

General T. L. Alcorn, of Mississippi, was in town, and is staying at the Gayoso House.

Colonel Mc. Fisher, of Corinth, Mississippi, was in the city yesterday looking hale and hearty.

Bishop Marvin, one of the bishops of the Methodist Episcopal church, has been attending the Arkansas Conference of that church, was in our city on Sunday. He preached at the Central and Wesleyan street Methodist Churches, and left yesterday for St. Louis.

L. Montidonne and family returned from Europe yesterday. They had a pleasant tour, and were heartily welcomed home by their friends. They are at present at the Worsham House, 276 Main street. Rev. Alfred H. Kerr returned Saturday from Nashville, where he was in attendance upon the session of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church. Mr. Kerr has been ordained, and a telegram announcing the death of his little daughter "Sarah Ward," a bright and beautiful child eight years of age, reached him at Nashville, and he opened the Assembly with an impressive sermon from Psalm xlix, first and last Verses, when the sad despatch was handed him.

Don't forget that at twelve o'clock to-day (Tuesday) that invaluable business lot on the northeast corner of Adams and Second streets will be sold, regardless of the price bid.

A TRAGEDY.

James Malatesta Shot through the Head by Angelo Marre.

He Dies in Two Hours after the Shooting.

Verdict of the Coroner's Jury.

Another of those fearful tragedies which has made our fair city bear among her sisters the mark of Cain, took place yesterday about three o'clock. James Malatesta, a wholesale fruiter and confectioner, on the corner of North Court and Main streets, was shot into death by Angelo Marre, a well-known detective. The ball took effect in the center of Mr. Malatesta's forehead, and so close to him was he when he fired that the powder burned his face, and the unfortunate man breathed his last at four minutes past five o'clock, just about two hours after he was shot. Immediately after the shooting Marre gave himself up to Lieutenant Hall, of the police force, and was taken to the station house, on Jefferson street, and meeting officer Charley Rose, of the Metropolitan police, he gave himself up, and was taken to the central station, from which he was transferred, after a short time, to the county jail, and given in charge to jailor Magevenay. Both men were Italians, Malatesta having been born at the village of Cinigone, about twenty-seven miles from the city of Genoa, where almost all his family and friends now reside. He has a cousin living in this city, Nicholas Malatesta, engaged in the same business. Angelo Marre was born in Italy, but has spent nearly all his life in this city, and of late years has made Memphis his home, and is well known as a detective, in which business he was engaged up to the time of the unfortunate occurrence. Malatesta was about thirty-one years of age, and Angelo about twenty-five; the men were nearly of equal size, and apparently much the same as to physical powers. At the time of the tragedy there were but two persons in the store, both clerks, Thiles B. Weatherford, and Mr. Louis Podesta, whose evidence before the coroner's jury is given below. About an hour after the shooting the Rev. Father Lilly, of St. Peter and St. Paul's church, on Adams street, was sent for, and he came, administered the sacrament of Extreme Unction to the dying man, and read the solemn and impressive prayers of the Catholic church for the soul that was passing away.

The difficulty appears to have grown out of some financial transaction in connection with Joe Cobbs's saloon, the "Crystal Palace." It appears that Angelo loaned Cobbs eight hundred dollars some time ago, and when he was absent at Vicksburg, on some business connected with his profession, Cobbs executed a deed of trust of all his property. It seems that the deed did not stand in law, and the saloon came into the hands of Malatesta, to whom Cobbs owed (because of five thousand dollars. It was about this matter that Angelo called upon Malatesta yesterday, he having heard that he had had an offer made him to purchase the saloon by Mr. Pfanenstehl, for $10,000, which Malatesta refused. Malatesta, it appears, had secured a lease of the place from Mr. Greenlaw, and was running it in the interest of all concerned. When Angelo came back from Vicksburg, about the 14th, he called on Malatesta, and had a long conversation with him in regard to the matter; Malatesta told Angelo that it was all right, he had got the lease, and he could do as he pleased. This was about five days ago. Angelo again called upon him yesterday, and told him what he had heard in regard to the offer of Pfanenstehl. This conversation was private between the two, neither of the witnesses hearing anything of it. Malatesta refused to talk with Angelo, and ordered him out of the store, which Angelo refused to do, and remarked, "Jimmy, you do not treat me right in the matter." Malatesta retorted, "you are a d—d dirty thief, liar and scoundrel; you are a d—d dog." Malatesta then went back into the rear of the store, and immediately returned with his hand in his pocket, and went to the middle door, Angelo at the same time coming to the corner (front street. As he walked to where Malatesta was standing, stepped over the door stone, and asked Malatesta what he meant by calling him a "d—n dog," and the other expletives he had applied to him. Malatesta then made a motion as if to draw his hand from his pocket, when Angelo immediately shot him. The above, for the most part, is the statement of Angelo, but, as will be seen, portions of it are more than borne out by the evidence of the two witnesses examined at the jury of inquest. About eight o'clock Coroner Cotton arrived on the scene, and empanneled a jury of inquest, who upon a view of the body proceeded to take testimony in regard to the said affair.

THE TESTIMONY.

Louis Podesta, Sworn.—Malatesta was sitting in the back part of the store talking to Mr. T. Armstrong, when Angelo went in, and Malatesta called to him to come in; I did not hear what words were spoken; the conversation was low, and I paid no attention to it; heard Malatesta say, "I will sell my claims in that establishment for old bottles or old barrels; I will not talk to you now about it; come some other time;" Angelo said, "you can't come any such game on me;" Malatesta asked him what he meant by a game, saying, "I can whip you; I can eat you up, you d—d dog; you had better go about your business, you will make more money (I use your own pet here," at the same time pulling off his coat and throwing it on the table. Malatesta then went to the back of the store, but immediately returned, and Angelo advanced to meet him, saying, "What do you mean by calling me a d—m dog?" Malatesta replied, "I said nothing," and almost immediately heard the shot and Malatesta fell backward against some boxes, with his hand in his pocket.

To a Juryman.—He said he would sell his claim for empty bottles or barrels; I did not see Angelo with a pistol in his hand; saw him start after the shot was fired; he was not running, but walking fast; it occurred about fifteen minutes after three o'clock; they were about two steps apart when the shot was fired; heard the first report; Angelo said Malatesta could not come with him, and cut loud up; and called him a d—m dog; Angelo said he was no fighting man; did not hear Angelo use any words to aggravate Malatesta.

James S. Weatherford, sworn.—I was not present when the shooting occurred; heard the report and stepped inside, and I went to the door nearest Court street; Malatesta threw off his coat, and said, "I can whip you, you d—d dog, and eat you;" Malatesta told him to go out; he would not; was standing close to Malatesta; he walked to the middle door; Angelo had a pistol in his right hand, and put it into his pocket, stepped forward, and almost immediately the pistol exploded; what Angelo first came in, Malatesta was talking, I think, to Mr. Armstrong.

To a Juryman.—Malatesta asked Angelo to come in; Angelo said he would enjoy himself; didn't see the pistol; he was standing near the case, and Angelo was about a yard from him when the pistol was fired; he was in his own house; the doors were open; I was standing in the door near Court street; Malatesta fell on some boxes; he was shot inside the house; no person could have done it; could see everything on the street.

To a Juryman.—Will you swear that Angelo fired the pistol.

Answer: I will swear that the shot was fired inside the house, and that there was no one inside but Mr. Louis Podesta and myself; that Angelo came in; I did not see the pistol in Angelo's hand, but saw him draw back his arm as he stepped inside the door.

This closed the testimony adduced before the Coroner's Jury which, after retiring, came back with the following as their verdict:

State of Tennessee, County of Shelby.—An inquisition, holden No. at 232 Main street, in the county and State aforesaid, on this the 26th day of November, 1867, before Wm. Cotton, Coroner of said county, upon the body of James Malatesta, there lying dead, by the jurors whose names are hereunto subscribed, who, upon their oaths, do say, that the said James Malatesta came to his death in the following manner, to-wit: By a leaden bullet wound, fired by the hands of one Angelo Marre, without any provocation whatsoever. In testimony whereof, the said jurors have hereunto set their hands this fifty-third day of January, A. D. 1867.

C. N. Martin, foreman, L. Podesta, A. W. Smith, John A. Henry, E. F. Arais, M. Pender, Geo. A. Schlick.

The Coroner immediately issued his warrant for the body of Angelo Marre, who at the time was in the custody of the jailor of Shelby county. The body of Malatesta was then removed to his cousins, N. Malatesta's, from which place the funeral will move to-day, at two and a half o'clock.

The Nashville Press and Times of Friday, speaking of appropriations by the State Legislature, says:

The omnibus Railroad bill, now before the Legislature, appropriates, under the general railroad law, to the Knoxville and Kentucky railroad, $500,000. This road is considered of vital importance to the commerce and travel of the eastern portion of the State. Tapping the great Eastern coal field, thirty miles from Knoxville, and forming a short connection with the grand Northern line of trade and travel, it can easily be seen how deeply it concerns the manufacturing and immigration enterprises of that region. Its construction will cause many a factory and forge to be started on the water courses and among the vast mines of the mountain country. The trains now run daily thirty-two miles out from Knoxville, and the road is ready for the ties five miles further to the base of the Cumberland mountains. Twenty-eight miles further will take it to the State line, toward which the Kentucky end of the road is fast approaching.

FINLEY'S CHURN DASHER.

Got one of them yet? Got one of what, Sir!

Why, one of the "Finley Churn Dashers."

Why do you ask me that question, sir?

BECAUSE one of them is needed, no doubt, and that badly, among your household convenience, that the laborious and disagreeable task of churning may become an agreeable recreation to the ladies, upon whom such duties usually devolve.

What's the Article? What's the description? What's it do, pray, sir?

Well, it is simply two screw propeller wheels attached to the lower end of a shaft or handle which is placed in the "old fashioned churn" made of tin cloth, and worked in the same manner precisely as the "old dasher"; these two wheels revolve vaporously and in counter directions at every up and down movement of the dasher, completely disengaging and separating the butter globules as the cream passes through them, which is the leader in every churning, and which is the whole secret of the immense popularity of "Finley Churn Dashers." [illegible] morning by the simplest process the true principles of "Science in Motion."

Well, sir, is the thing simple—very simple?

Why, so very simple when seen, that not a word of explanation is necessary. Why "bless," "Aunt Dinah," or the slight pressure of your little finger is sufficient to operate it, and you can easily dispense with your other fingers for it.

Is it Durable and Substantial, sir?

It is made of the best Sweet Zinc—will not rust—strong—neat, and with ordinary care, will last as long as you and your grand children's children.

Long enough. Well, my friend, does it make GOOD BUTTER and QUICK?

It does not only make GOOD BUTTER, but about ONE-FOURTH MORE, in a given amount of cream, under like circumstances of quality and temperature, and in about ONE HALF THE TIME required by the use of the "old dasher." Are, however, quite ready to contend that, with the "Finley Churn Dasher," the "Five Minute" and other "lightning Churns" are not worth the room they occupy in your kitchen. Better as quick as the best "Five Minute" and other "lightning Churns" are, we have it so quick, for the very plain and simple reason that the extraordinary [illegible] operate—but with great fast of a change in the "progression and accuracy," when coming to any grade as the cock after many fruitless efforts to arrive at a total of ten. Until such locks and cock "Solomon" as all gentlemen who have been "thereby done for."

Methinks I discover a mental sympathy, a similarity of experience and a manly determination to avoid all humbugs, especially with the "Yankee" press. My friend, "FINLEY'S DASHER" IS NO HUMBUG—not a bit of it, sir. "Tis a winner in reality, "and a big one," capable of being worn by all who have every household in the land, North and South. The Dasher is a perfect success, and will be sold by agents every where. The Dasher is a perfect success, and will be sold by agents every where. [illegible] ONE, BEST IN UP TO DATE.
